BURTON HOUSE CHANGES HANDS

SORENSEN BARBER SHOP AND VARIETY STORE MOVE

A number of changes are taking place among the business firms at the lower end of Main street. Rasmus Rasmussen has purchased the Burton Hotel from Mrs. Margaret Burton. Sorenson Bros. will move the Variety Store that is now occupying one part of the Fischer Bldg. to rooms of the same building, and Carl Sorenson will move his barber shop from the Burton Hotel building to the Fischer Building that is being vacated by the Variety store. The change will give the Variety Store much additional floor space, which is badly needed in order to permit the proper display of the large stock they carry. Carl Sorenson says he intends to fix the new quarters up so that he will have a very attractive shop, clean and sanitary, and with modern equipment. Mr. Rasmussen hasn't fully determined just what he will do with the hotel, but believes he will operate it as a rooming house for a short time at least.

It would seem that a second-class hotel should pay in Grayling. This is especially true in the summer time when the inn is often times overbooked. And rooms in private homes are plentiful. The public needs just such a place as the Burton House to take care of the overflow and to accommodate those who cannot afford to pay first class hotel prices. For the past couple of years this place has been operated by Oliver B. Scott.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

November 7, 1927

The first regular meeting for the year 1927-28 was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Emil Giegling. The Grayling Social club rooms over the Sailing Hanson Company store. Mrs. Anstett and Mrs. Cassidy were the hostesses for the evening. The program consisted of roll call, payment of dues, reading of the by-laws and the president's address.

Miss Margaret Hemmingson is the president for this year and she gave an unusually fine address. She extended a cordial welcome to all the members and offered her hearty cooperation at all times. Miss Hemmingson also informed the club that the present club rooms were once the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rasmus Hanson and stated that she hoped that from them they might draw some inspiration.

After the business meeting a delicious two course lunch was served by the social committee. Mrs. Herluf Sorenson, Mrs. E. J. Olson, Mrs. Frank Anstett, Mrs. Dell Wait and Mrs. Thorsvald Peterson.

It was announced during the evening that Mrs. A. J. Joseph has been appointed by Herbert Hoover as chairman of the Better Homes committee for this year.

November 14, 1927

The second regular meeting for the year 1927-28 was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Emil Giegling.

After the business meeting the club enjoyed a fine musical program arranged by Mrs. Giegling. Mrs. Rasmus and Mrs. Frank Peterson. Their first number was a trio, Pretty Barbara, which was very well rendered. Mrs. Milnes' topic was Indian music.

After a short introduction she sang three Indian songs. Her first was "In the Land of the Sky Blue Waters," by Cudman. This number is always a treat. She also sang two songs by Lorraine, "In my Bark Canoe" and "On Cherry Hill".

Mrs. Tetu's topic was Negro music. She read a very interesting paper on Negro music and then sang three songs arranged by William Arms Fisher. "Deep River," "Steal Away to Jesus" and "Swing Low Sweet Chariot."

Jazz music was fittingly demonstrated by Miss Marie Schmidt and her brother Howard Schmidt. They sang "Side by Side," a modern jazz number. Miss Marie then sang the Russian Lullaby, one of the finer popular numbers by Irving Berlin.

DEER HUNTING SEASON OPENED TUESDAY

With the opening of the deer season this year there will be 55,000 rifles in the hands of as many hunters ready to drop a buck apiece. This will be the largest number of hunters ever to be issued deer hunting licenses in Michigan.

Of this number, Director George R. Hogarth, of the state conservation department, says many are unaware of several vital changes made in the laws governing such hunting this year. These hunters become violators of the law in some instances without intent, yet the law cannot consider the intent with a result that they are convicted and fined.

The changes, which though few, are important, can be summed up in the following brief statement: Director Hogarth has prepared:

Section 4, Act 366, P. A. 1925, indicates that transporting deer, killed on a resident hunting license, by automobile outside of the state, is unlawful. Deer may be shipped outside of the state only on railroad when billed from one point in Michigan to another point in Michigan.

Camp Permit law makes no provision for shipping any part of a camp deer. The department has ruled, however, that any part of a camp deer less than three-fourths may be shipped on camp seal and permit, providing head and skin of the animal is attached.

Act 87, P. A. 1922, prohibits the possession of a rifle in deer hunting areas, except during the open season on deer. Anyone holding a deer hunting license may transport rifle and deer camp five days previous to opening of season.

All the counties of the state south of town 20 north are closed to deer hunting, and north of that line the following counties are closed to deer hunting: Missaukee, Wexford, Manistee, Charlevoix and Emmet.

It might be of interest to know that this year as each hunter applies for his deer license, he is being handed a questionnaire postal card and is being asked to mail a card to the department, indicating what success he had, what he shot, location of deer, time of shooting, etc.

It might be of interest to know that there will be approximately 55,000 deer licenses sold. Also, it might be said that Mr. Hugh Green, chief conservation officer has been working for the past week or ten days organizing a special force to cope with the situation during the deer hunting season, and many of the fire deputies will be pressed into service.

With a report from County Clerk Charles Gierke that around 600 deer licenses were issued means that Crawford county woods are interested with at least that many hunters.

Good number of them are local citizens, while others are from other parts of the state. Deer hunting season like the opening of the fishing season brings back many of Grayling's old residents and many hearty handshakes are in order. Monday our streets were alive with red caps all busy buying provisions and ammunition for the opening day.

A steady downpour of rain Tuesday morning kept many from the woods, but most of them braved the storm and many came home with their coveted prize.

Ed. S. Chalker was lucky in getting a big bear for his part Tuesday. The following are among those whom we have learned have filled their licenses: Clarence VanAmburg, Claude Cardinal, Oscar Borchers.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP CLUB ENTERTAINING WITH DINNER

The members of the Goodfellowship club enjoyed a very beautifully appointed dinner at Shoppensagon Inn Monday evening. It was the opening affair for the club year and twenty members were in attendance. The long table at which the guests were seated was most attractive, with a large centerpiece of marigolds, bebe chrisanthemums and baby breath. Tall orange tapers in gold holders and miniature turkey.

After dinner the ladies went to number. Miss Marie then sang the Russian Lullaby, one of the finer popular numbers by Irving Berlin.

1-Retiring President G. R. Olds of Amherst college (right) greeting Arthur Stanley Pease, the new president, at the latter's inauguration. 2-Scene in Heckel, Mass., typical of the destruction wrought by the Fair-Bois. 3-Sheldon Clark, prominent Chicago sportsman and Sinclair company official, who is involved in the Fair-Bois scandal in Washington.

COLLINS LECTURE GIVEN GOOD ATTENDANCE

Talks of Subversive Movements in America

Peter W. Collins, of Boston, Mass., former United States industrial expert, American sociologist and lecturer, speaking Sunday night at the school auditorium under the auspices of Grayling Council, Knights of Columbus and American Legion Post, in the nation-wide and educational program of the Knights against Subversive Movements in America.

In the course of his address Mr. Collins stated, as a result of his experience in over five thousand American communities; in every state in the United States, the outstanding dangers to America at the present time. He emphasized the danger of communism, intolerance, irreverence, and other destructive doctrines and subversive movements. He cited the world menace of communism in Russia, China, Nicaragua, and especially Mexico under Calles, and the menacing effects to the future of the United States in the destruction of the guarantees of life and liberty under Mexican communism. Mr. Collins declared that communism is a dictatorship that denies the sacred rights of humanity, prohibits liberty, freedom, protection of life and pursuit of happiness and scorn and rejects the God-given guarantees upon which civilization rests.

In a thorough analysis of the so-called constitution of Mexico and the thirty-three clauses of Article 130 of that constitution, Mr. Collins showed how this constitution carried into effect the doctrines of communism and repudiated the five great kinds of freedom: freedom of person, freedom of trial, freedom of worship, freedom of property.

Mr. Collins declared that there was only one other document in all the world like the Mexican constitution, and that is the constitution of Communist Russia. He said both came from the same source, from the fountain of communism, the Communist Manifesto of Marx, founder of Communism. He showed, from the Manifesto of Marx, how both Russia and Mexico had put into their constitutions the three principal doctrines of communism: the abolition of religion which Marx declared the opium of the people, the abolition of private property, and the abolition of the family and marriage. Today in Russia and Mexico, he declared, religion is abolished, the family and marriage are degraded, and ownership of private property is denied.

Mr. Collins stated the world-wide propaganda of communism in the Sacco-Vanzetti case as an example of the effectiveness of its organization and the perniciousness of subversive propaganda. Mr. Collins emphasized communism as one of the most dangerous subversive movements threatening destruction of our civilization. He said the communist doctrine is synonymous with atheism, inasmuch as it had as its background the "materialistic conception of history."

The speaker then went on to show that although communism claimed that it came from the masses, this claim is false because the common people have an inherent love of God, which is instinctive in them. He referred to the leaders of communism in Russia from Stalin to Trotsky and said that not one of these leaders had come from the working classes.

In the course of his lecture, Mr. Collins called attention to the rampant propaganda today in many colleges and universities in America. He quoted questionnaires of some professors given to girl students to answer in regard to marriage and the family, and said these teachings were a serious menace to the character and morals of millions of American boys and girls. He emphasized the needs of morality and character building in education.

Mr. Collins declared that today there was a serious disregard of the principles and guarantees upon which our government rests. He said that

Mr. Collins declared that today there was a serious disregard of the principles and guarantees upon which our government rests. He said that much of this was due to the work of subversive movements. He said the blasting and bombing of the constitution must stop and called on all Americans, worthy of the name, to co-operate in stopping it.

Mr. Collins explained the great guarantees of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights. He quoted in detail from the articles and preamble of the constitution and said that, with the Holy Bible, the constitution ought to become the freest companion of every American family, to know, to love, to appreciate, to respect and to observe.

In closing, Mr. Collins called for a recognition of the great principles and ideals of the brotherhood of man and said that the foundation of such brotherhood rested on the Fatherhood of God.

There was a good sized audience out to hear Mr. Collins, who spoke for an hour, during which time he held his audience in undivided attention.

A few citizens called at the hotel earlier in the evening to meet Mr. Collins, where they enjoyed together a chicken dinner.

SECOND NUMBER ON LYCEUM COURSE

This Number to Take Place at High School Auditorium Tomorrow Evening

The Great Laurant, the man of many mysteries, and his show of wonders, is an attraction with an unusually wide appeal.

Laurant, with his delightful personality and marvelous dexterity, has brought to the art of magic that high degree of perfection which always charms an audience.

This program is a succession of interesting surprises. There are beautiful flowers, magnificent rainbow talks, mysterious fountains of fire and water, followed by the appearance of cooing doves, quacking geese and the inevitable magic rabbits. There are also scientific problems and lightning character impersonations.

With the revival of many of the ancient mysteries and the inclusion of the latest modern effects, Laurant's program is a veritable resume of the whole history of magic. Indeed, one critic has called this reveal in the Land of Mysteries "The Outline of Magic."

Because of the popularity of this number it will be held at the school auditorium. The date is tomorrow, Friday, Nov. 18.

Here are some commendatory notices from the leading dailies:

"Laurant is a magician of more than ordinary skill. His wonderful art of palming was excellent."—Denver News.

"Laurant and his magic were in every sense high class and artistic, clever—and—mystifying."—Omaha World Herald.

"Laurant puzzled and delighted the audience with his unique feats in magic. All who saw him last night will be glad to see him again."—New Orleans Picayune.

"Laurant is as entertaining as he is skillful. His tricks were performed with bewildering ease and success."—San Francisco Examiner.

ELECTRIC CO. PROMISES IMPROVED SERVICE

Information has reached this office that the Michigan Public Service Corporation is planning on improving the electric service in Grayling.

Considerable annoyance has been experienced by local users by low voltage and by the fading and frequent flickerings that at times nearly go out entirely. This is due, it is said by one of the employees of the company, to the wiring being too proper size wiring after which, our informant said, Grayling will have wonderful service and all the electricity it can possibly hope to use.

We are sure this will be glad news to the local patrons.

John Dell got the first deer we have heard of from here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jerome returned from their western trip the last of the week, tired but happy.

We believe more men went hunting from here last Sunday than attended church.

If we had taken 5,000 cords of wood on subscriptions last winter and kept it until now, we would have been rich, but we didn't.

We celebrated our 61st birthday last Saturday, and King Edward his, on Sunday. We have always been one day ahead of the effete monarch.

Rev. H. Goldie attended a ministerial meeting at Bay City last week and Mrs. Goldie took the time of his absence to visit her parents at Wolverson.

Prof. F. W. Lankenaw, a former superintendent of our schools, died at his home in Bay City Tuesday, Nov. 4, from paralysis. His wife and two children survive him.

Rev. H. Goldie was ready for the hunting season early Monday morning. His brother came up from Sterling to see that he didn't get lost in the woods.

A. L. Pond got a running shot at a deer last Saturday, but he did not get the deer. He went back the next day to look after the deer he had wounded and found it dead within twenty rods from where he shot it.

R. S. Claggett went to Toledo last week and came home with his wife, whose health seems to be greatly improved by her treatment at the sanatorium in that city. Her friends are glad to think her recovery will be rapid and perfect.

Attention of down-staters is called to the fact that Alpena, Alpena and Roscommon counties, three of the "pine barren" counties, showed the best exhibit of grain, fruit and vegetables, in fact everything that they took to the state fair. In fact the northern farmer made his southern brother wonder if after all they "pine barren" fellers hadn't got the best farms.

Come north and buy a farm. Send your young men to northern Michigan—instead of out west to the land of cyclones and blizzards.—Harrisville Review.

There is a change at the M. C. R. depot that will be noticeable from the fact of the long service of A. W. Canfield, who had seemed a fixture.

He is succeeded by E. P. Vandewater who has been stationed at Owosso for the past seven years, going there from Standish, and having been in the employ of the company for twenty three years. Mr. Canfield and his son Frank are hunting in the U. P. after which he will decide on his next work.

We understand that he has been offered a good position by the company in Bay City. We are glad to welcome Mr. Vandewater and his family to our town.

RED CROSS FLOOD RELIEF IN SOUTH COSTS $17,000,000

Greatest Disaster of History but
One of 111 Operations in
Year of Calamity.

Tornadoes headed the list of disasters which struck the United States in the past year, the report of Red Cross relief operations for the year ending June 30, showing 29 great storms. Floods were second on the list, 24 being recorded for the same period.

The record does not include the St. Louis tornado which occurred in the current fiscal year, as did a number of other storms and disasters since, in which the Red Cross provided relief.

Included in the list of 111 disasters covered by the record of the past year's relief operations of the Red Cross, are earthquakes, explosions, mine disasters, a cloudburst, a hail storm, fires, floods, hurricanes, a railroad wreck, a scarlet fever epidemic, typhoid epidemic, tornadoes, and a typhoon. The latter occurred in the Philippines, but is included in the operations at home. In all, the Red Cross extended its services in 77 major disasters in the United States and in 20 abroad, including a hurricane over Havana, Cuba, and the Isle of Pines, one in the Bahamas, and others through various West Indian regions; fire in Porto Rico, another in Haiti, earthquakes in Armenia, Japan and Albania, floods in Jugoslavia and Mexico.

The organization conducted refugee relief operations in Syria, Bulgaria and China, the latter largely due to factional wars fought over various parts of China the past year.

The two outstanding disasters at home were the Florida hurricane and the Mississippi Valley flood. Rehabilitation operations of the latter disaster are still in progress under the Red Cross. A national appeal for funds was made in both disasters, resulting in contributions for relief amounting to more than $20,000,000.

The Mississippi flood is the outstanding disaster in the whole history of the Red Cross disaster relief service. In this one catastrophe the organization raised through subscriptions by the people of the country and foreign nations approximately $17,000,000 for relief use. Aided by this fund it fed, clothed, sheltered or otherwise assisted more than 600,000 human beings, fed and cared for approximately 200,000 head of livestock and established 149 refugee camps.

The flood inundated approximately 20,000 square miles and affected 174 counties in eight states. Some 320,000 homeless persons were sheltered in Red Cross camps. When the emergency was at its height the Red Cross was serving more than a million meals a day.

So vast was the work imposed on the Red Cross and allied agencies conducting rehabilitation—that this phase of the flood relief task is expected to extend well into the coming year. Up to September 15, 104,441 families in the flood zone had been given rehabilitation assistance by the Red Cross, and 1,700,000 acres of flooded crop land in seven states had been replanted with Red Cross aid.

There had been expended or committed for expenditure in connection with this relief and rehabilitation work a total of $15,660,000.

The appeal for a nation-wide membership increased to 5,000,000 adult members. It was pointed out, in based on the realization that demands on Red Cross service such as occasioned by disaster relief are increasing each year. For that reason special importance is lent to the Eleventh Annual Roll Call of the organization, to be held from Armistice Day, November 11, to Thanksgiving, November 24, during which this membership will be built up.

The Tenth Anniversary of America's entry into the World War in 1917, is an appropriate time to join the American Red Cross and participate through membership in its peace-time services. Join during the Annual Roll Call, November 11 to 24.

Thanksgiving

The observance of Thanksgiving Day should bring happiness and enjoyment to every home in the land. It is peculiarly a family day and the same itself brings back memories of the old home and the table laden with good things. It is a day linked with pleasant memories, with traditions purely American.

The day also is and should be looked upon with thoughtful reverence. Our forefathers celebrated the first Thanksgiving not only with a feast—there were prayers and sermons and songs of praise. These sturdy pioneers laid the foundations of our greatness as a nation and our happiness as individuals by reason of the strength of their religious convictions. We, too, will grow in greatness and happiness in proportion as we remain faithful to their ideals.

It fitting that we should, in humble recognition of the goodness of Almighty God, who has dealt so bountifully with us, celebrate this day reverently and joyfully.

In compliance, therefore, with the custom of our forefathers and in conformity with the proclamation of the President, I hereby designate Thursday, November 24, 1927, as a day of public thanksgiving.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this twelfth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven, and the Commonwealth the ninety first.

HOW TO PREVENT FIRES

1 Matchbox—Be sure your matchbox is out. Break it in two before you throw it away.

2 Tobacco—Be sure that you stubs are dead before throwing them away. Never throw them into brush, leaves or needles.

3 Making Camp—Before building a fire scrape away all inflammable material from spot 1 foot in diameter. Dig a hole in the center and fill it with water. Keep your fire small. Never build it against trees or logs or near brush.

4 Smoking Camp—Never smoke camp until your fire is out. Good out.

5 Brush Burning—Never burn brush or leaves in windy weather. Burning brush that the fire will get away.

A carelessly left campfire—a carelessly thrown match or spark—may mean acres of timber destroyed in a few hours. Only decades of slow growth will replace the loss.

Pine forests catch fire easily. Many travelers from states where there are no forests, or only hardwood forests, do not realize that our northern woods, composed largely of highly inflammable pine, will burn so easily. The underlying bed of leaves and dry pine needles acts like tinder in carrying fire from a spark dropped in it. Fires creep underneath this forest floor and appear in distant places.

Be careful! Help preserve the forest treasures for everybody's use.

14 Disasters at One Time Call for Red Cross Work

The great size of a disaster does not necessarily mean that it has the stage to itself.

The American Red Cross relief forces were impressed with this fact during the Mississippi Valley flood in recent months. While the relief forces were struggling with this greatest of all disasters in United States history, from April to June they were obliged to furnish relief

Riding From Coast to Coast

Miss Vonnell Viking is riding from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific coast on her beautiful horse "Broadway." She is seen above about to start on the trip from the city hall in New York, after, being received by Mayor Walker. The incentive for her undertaking is a wage of $25,000 that she made with the marquis of Lonsdale at a recent dinner party in London, that she could make the trip in 100 days.

Health News

By County Nurse

Every school but one has been visited by the nurse.

There are three schools yet to inspect. Two schools are closed for at least two weeks because of infantile paralysis.

Health training in the schools by Theresa Dansdale should be in every school library.

Temperature and ventilation are being discussed by the pupils.

Crawford county will soon be 100 per cent Junior Red Cross.

In doing Junior Red Cross work it is not advised that the pupils do extra work, but to check up on the work.

When a child cuts out and has a little lamb or a chicken should not touch strange dogs' showing or illustrating health along with free hand drawing, others are interested, too, to know how and why illustrations are made.

So in the Junior Red Cross work we are asking for free hand drawing or sketch books to exchange in other schools.

The Christmas boxes sent to a foreign country by the Grayling school arrived safely in New York Oct. 29, and from there they are sent to a school in a foreign country by the national R. C.

We urge the correction of defects and the practice of good health habits such as brushing the teeth, keeping clean, standing erect.

Daily inspection by the teacher is very interesting. One room has a ball field on the wall. Every day this room plays ball. The clearest, most cheerful and healthy child makes a name out of the health chores.

Performed the most health chores makes a touchdown, some only get to 10 base, some do not even get in to bat. But by next inspection more will make better score. The room is gaining in health score because they have a goal in reach and the goal is healthy children.

Probably no field of education has gained more originality or vitality than that of health education. The goal of health education is healthy children.

Experiments have been made not only by individual teachers, but by the entire school.

In this pioneer field certain ideals and principles have merited approval.

Some kind of inspection children find out if they have cleaned their teeth, slept with their windows open, drunk a quart of milk a day and eaten green vegetables is made frequently, sometimes daily, in the schools of Crawford county so that health habits may be formed.

The time required will vary with the kind of homes the children live in.

From and their previous training. From five to ten minutes daily is usually necessary for such inspection or appreciations.

Many teachers are finding splendid opportunities to impress ideas of health by correlating the health work with other subjects of the school curriculum. The subject matter of language, drawing, arithmetic and manual training is often illuminated with health material. Making health posters or booklets, writing health plays or compositions on actual work done. All such activities help to vitalize the regular school subjects as well as promote health knowledge and habits.

Miss Sena Anderson visited Crawford county and was with the nurse in many schools and homes. Miss Anderson is the field representing nurse from the midwestern branch of the American Red Cross in St. Louis.

The regional meeting at Traverse City was attended by Mrs. Kerran. The program was very interesting and helpful. More of the committee would have been appreciated.

Three schools in Crawford county are closed because of contagious diseases.

Red Cross health services are increasing in scope. It is pointed out in calling attention to the forthcoming enrollment of new members in the Red Cross ranks, through whose support all Red Cross activities are made possible. The enrollment will take place from November 11 to 24.

Members of the Junior Red Cross proved a new capacity for service during the Mississippi flood, according to reports to Red Cross National Headquarters covering their work.

This group of enthusiastic school children responded spontaneously and generously to the needs of the flood victims. An indication of the importance of this help is contained in the report that Juniors in Boston contributed $7,500 to the relief fund.

Junior Red Cross members shared in reconstruction work in the Midwest tornados several years ago, after the Florida storm, and are in the post-flood operations of the Red Cross among the people in the Mississippi Valley.

Junior Red Cross has 5,822,707 members, an increase of 275,221 from the last year.

More than a million of the Junior Red Cross membership is distributed in the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Alaska, and includes Indian and Eskimo children. Through the medium of the Junior Red Cross in the United States, and similar groups abroad, children all over the world are being brought into closer understanding by international correspondence carried on by classes in the schools.

The Juniors present have nearly 100,000 members in the national organization, but in the forthcoming membership enrollment of the Red Cross, from November 11 to 24, the goal of the adult membership is 5,000,000.

RED CROSS ADVANCES IN HEALTH PROTECTION

Record for Progress is Made in Protecting People of Vast Flooded Section.

Record health protective activities marked the year's service of the American Red Cross in this field. The outstanding health accomplishment was the successful conclusion of the emergency health program launched as part of the relief work in the Mississippi Valley flood. In co-operation with State and Federal health agencies, the Red Cross successfully conducted a campaign designed to prevent epidemics as a result of flood conditions.

Thousands were immunized against typhoid and smallpox, preventive measures against malaria were undertaken, and as the flood receded an intensive clean-up program was set in motion to purify water supplies, provide sanitary surroundings of rural communities and complete other health protective steps.

Beside the emergency work, the Red Cross Public Health Nursing Service developed about 100 new community nursing and health services throughout the country. Nurse instructors and others operating under the Red Cross also extended training in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick to both adult and junior groups, the latter in educational institutions in certain instances. Every State, Alaska, the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippines, Porto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, had Home Hygiene classes, which showed a large increase.

One contribution to national health achieving a growing recognition, is the health instruction service through which thousands of adults and school children are learning the proper fundamentals for health and the fundamentals of correct food habits in relation to health. Classes include housewives, school children, foster mothers, policemen, women having charge of homes and institutions, business girls and students in universities and colleges.

Besides these direct services for better health, the Red Cross enrolled reserves of nurses amounts to more than 45,000. These nurses are available for disaster relief service, epidemics and other serious emergencies, and are on call for duty with the Army, Navy and the Veterans' Bureau.

Red Cross health services are increasing in scope. It is pointed out in calling attention to the forthcoming enrollment of new members in the Red Cross ranks, through whose support all Red Cross activities are made possible. The enrollment will take place from November 11 to 24.

Red Cross Meets Heavy Demand for Water Safety Duty

Trained life-savers in the United States, qualified by the Red Cross as experts in all phases of water safety, now number 134,582 adults and juniors, according to the Life-Saving Service of the American Red Cross, which reported the figure in a report qualified in the past year. This number does not include other thousands who were taught to swim.

Training courses conducted by the Red Cross last summer brought out a uniformly high standard of proficiency. In addition, more than 20 winter training courses were conducted the past year. Swimming "institutes" at camps in Arizona, California, Indiana, Massachusetts, New York, North Carolina, Missouri, Oregon, Washington, and Wisconsin, "splash weeks" and swimming and life-saving campaigns under Red Cross auspices held in many States aroused great interest.

The experience gained during the last few years indicates that the dangers involved in water sports can be eliminated through training and by the adoption of water safety methods, a recent Red Cross report stated.

"When our communities provide sufficient swimming pools, bathing beaches, and skating places, and furnish trained leaders under whose guidance both adults and children may enjoy themselves in safety, the number of preventable deaths through drowning will be greatly reduced."

The Red Cross is endeavoring to supply trained leaders in water safety so far as its facilities permit. To increase the effectiveness of this and other services, the Eleventh Annual Roll Call, from November 11 to 24, will urge an enrollment of 5,000,000.

The American Red Cross will ask an enrollment of 5,000,000 members for the coming year, during the Annual Roll Call, November 11-24 inclusive.

This group of enthusiastic school children responded spontaneously and generously to the needs of the flood victims. An indication of the importance of this help is contained in the report that Juniors in Boston contributed $7,500 to the relief fund.

Junior Red Cross members shared in reconstruction work in the Midwest tornados several years ago, after the Florida storm, and are in the post-flood operations of the Red Cross among the people in the Mississippi Valley.

Junior Red Cross has 5,822,707 members, an increase of 275,221 from the last year.

More than a million of the Junior Red Cross membership is distributed in the Philippines, Hawaii, Guam, Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Alaska, and includes Indian and Eskimo children. Through the medium of the Junior Red Cross in the United States, and similar groups abroad, children all over the world are being brought into closer understanding by international correspondence carried on by classes in the schools.

The Juniors present have nearly 100,000 members in the national organization, but in the forthcoming membership enrollment of the Red Cross, from November 11 to 24, the goal of the adult membership is 5,000,000.
